

Stephanie Kost

From: Marilyn Williams [mjsjoy@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, August 02, 2004 12:35 PM
To: KAQuinn
Subject: TV Violence and Children

Marilyn Williams
1850 SE Hillcrest Dr
Bartlesville, OK 74003

August 2, 2004

Commissioner Kathleen Abernathy
445 12th Street SW
Washington, DC 20554

Commissioner Abernathy:

Dear FCC:

I understand you are interested in parental comments concerning violence on TV. I confess I am not a parent-but have taught in our public schools for 23 years. Standing outside my classroom between classes is like watching TV that I choose not to. Students mimic what they've seen on TV. Conversations I overhear often sound just like the Jerry Springer show and often lead to the same type violence. To doubt that what's on TV influences are children is ludicrous-it has an extremely negative influence and definitely makes our job of education much more difficult. I agree that it is a parent's responsibility for what children watch-but since I can find no positive reason to have at least 75% of what's on TV then I write hoping you will help us get rid of some of the worst. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Marilyn Williams

Stephanie Kost

From: Marilyn Williams [mjsjoy@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, August 02, 2004 12:35 PM
To: KJMWEB
Subject: TV Violence and Children

Marilyn Williams
1850 SE Hillcrest Dr
Bartlesville, OK 74003

August 2, 2004

Commissioner Kevin Martin
445 12th Street SW
Washington, DC 20554

Commissioner Martin:

Dear FCC:

I understand you are interested in parental comments concerning violence on TV. I confess I am not a parent-but have taught in our public schools for 23 years. Standing outside my classroom between classes is like watching TV that I choose not to. Students mimic what they've seen on TV. Conversations I overhear often sound just like the Jerry Springer show and often lead to the same type violence. To doubt that what's on TV influences are children is ludicrous-it has an extremely negative influence and definitely makes our job of education much more difficult. I agree that it is a parent's responsibility for what children watch-but since I can find no positive reason to have at least 75% of what's on TV then I write hoping you will help us get rid of some of the worst. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Marilyn Williams

Stephanie Kost

From: Marilyn Williams [mjsjoy@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, August 02, 2004 12:35 PM
To: Michael Powell
Subject: TV Violence and Children

Marilyn Williams
1850 SE Hillcrest Dr
Bartlesville, OK 74003

August 2, 2004

Chairman Michael Powell
445 12th Street SW
Washington, DC 20554

Chairman Powell:

Dear FCC:

I understand you are interested in parental comments concerning violence on TV. I confess I am not a parent-but have taught in our public schools for 23 years. Standing outside my classroom between classes is like watching TV that I choose not to. Students mimic what they've seen on TV. Conversations I overhear often sound just like the Jerry Springer show and often lead to the same type violence. To doubt that what's on TV influences are children is ludicrous-it has an extremely negative influence and definitely makes our job of education much more difficult. I agree that it is a parent's responsibility for what children watch-but since I can find no positive reason to have at least 75% of what's on TV then I write hoping you will help us get rid of some of the worst. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Marilyn Williams

Stephanie Kost

From: Marilyn Williams [mjsjoy@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, August 02, 2004 12:35 PM
To: Michael Copps
Subject: TV Violence and Children

Marilyn Williams
1850 SE Hillcrest Dr
Bartlesville, OK 74003

August 2, 2004

Commissioner Michael Copps
445 12th Street SW
Washington, DC 20554

Commissioner Copps:

Dear FCC:

I understand you are interested in parental comments concerning violence on TV. I confess I am not a parent-but have taught in our public schools for 23 years. Standing outside my classroom between classes is like watching TV that I choose not to. Students mimic what they've seen on TV. Conversations I overhear often sound just like the Jerry Springer show and often lead to the same type violence. To doubt that what's on TV influences are children is ludicrous-it has an extremely negative influence and definitely makes our job of education much more difficult. I agree that it is a parent's responsibility for what children watch-but since I can find no positive reason to have at least 75% of what's on TV then I write hoping you will help us get rid of some of the worst. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Marilyn Williams

Stephanie Kost

From: Marilyn Williams [mjsjoy@hotmail.com]
Sent: Monday, August 02, 2004 12:35 PM
To: Commissioner Adelstein
Subject: TV Violence and Children

Marilyn Williams
1850 SE Hillcrest Dr
Bartlesville, OK 74003

August 2, 2004

Commissioner Jonathan Adelstein
445 12th Street SW
Washington, DC 20554

Commissioner Adelstein:

Dear FCC:

I understand you are interested in parental comments concerning violence on TV. I confess I am not a parent-but have taught in our public schools for 23 years. Standing outside my classroom between classes is like watching TV that I choose not to. Students mimic what they've seen on TV. Conversations I overhear often sound just like the Jerry Springer show and often lead to the same type violence. To doubt that what's on TV influences are children is ludicrous-it has an extremely negative influence and definitely makes our job of education much more difficult. I agree that it is a parent's responsibility for what children watch-but since I can find no positive reason to have at least 75% of what's on TV then I write hoping you will help us get rid of some of the worst. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Marilyn Williams

Stephanie Kost

From: Joe Pletka [joebek0409@cs.com]
Sent: Monday, August 02, 2004 12:27 PM
To: KAQuinn
Subject: Violence on TV

Joe Pletka
409 E. Spring Street
Yorkville, IL 60560

August 2, 2004

Commissioner Kathleen Abernathy
445 12th Street SW
Washington, DC 20554

Commissioner Abernathy:

To the most honorable FCC Chairman and Commissioners;

I am emailing you to urge you to reduce the amount of violence on TV. I have three young children that I do not want exposed to the violence that is so prevalent on TV. I don't let my children watch programs containing violence but still they are exposed to it.....the commercials advertising future programs are viewed by my children during the programs I allow them to watch.

Thank you

Sincerely,

Joe Pletka
630-553-9253

Stephanie Kost

From: Joe Pletka [joebek0409@cs.com]
Sent: Monday, August 02, 2004 12:27 PM
To: KJMWEB
Subject: Violence on TV

Joe Pletka
409 E. Spring Street
Yorkville, IL 60560

August 2, 2004

Commissioner Kevin Martin
445 12th Street SW
Washington, DC 20554

Commissioner Martin:

To the most honorable FCC Chairman and Commissioners;

I am emailing you to urge you to reduce the amount of violence on TV. I have three young children that I do not want exposed to the violence that is so prevalent on TV. I don't let my children watch programs containing violence but still they are exposed to it.....the commercials advertising future programs are viewed by my children during the programs I allow them to watch.

Thank you

Sincerely,

Joe Pletka
630-553-9253

Stephanie Kost

From: Joe Pletka [joebek0409@cs.com]
Sent: Monday, August 02, 2004 12:27 PM
To: Commissioner Adelstein
Subject: Violence on TV

Joe Pletka
409 E. Spring Street
Yorkville, IL 60560

August 2, 2004

Commissioner Jonathan Adelstein
445 12th Street SW
Washington, DC 20554

Commissioner Adelstein:

To the most honorable FCC Chairman and Commissioners;

I am emailing you to urge you to reduce the amount of violence on TV. I have three young children that I do not want exposed to the violence that is so prevalent on TV. I don't let my children watch programs containing violence but still they are exposed to it.....the commercials advertising future programs are viewed by my children during the programs I allow them to watch.

Thank you

Sincerely,

Joe Pletka
630-553-9253

Stephanie Kost

From: Joe Pletka [joebek0409@cs.com]
Sent: Monday, August 02, 2004 12:27 PM
To: Michael Powell
Subject: Violence on TV

Joe Pletka
409 E. Spring Street
Yorkville, IL 60560

August 2, 2004

Chairman Michael Powell
445 12th Street SW
Washington, DC 20554

Chairman Powell:

To the most honorable FCC Chairman and Commissioners;

I am emailing you to urge you to reduce the amount of violence on TV. I have three young children that I do not want exposed to the violence that is so prevalent on TV. I don't let my children watch programs containing violence but still they are exposed to it.....the commercials advertising future programs are viewed by my children during the programs I allow them to watch.

Thank you

Sincerely,

Joe Pletka
630-553-9253

Stephanie Kost

From: Joe Pletka [joebek0409@cs.com]
Sent: Monday, August 02, 2004 12:27 PM
To: Michael Copps
Subject: Violence on TV

Joe Pletka
409 E. Spring Street
Yorkville, IL 60560

August 2, 2004

Commissioner Michael Copps
445 12th Street SW
Washington, DC 20554

Commissioner Copps:

To the most honorable FCC Chairman and Commissioners;

I am emailing you to urge you to reduce the amount of violence on TV. I have three young children that I do not want exposed to the violence that is so prevalent on TV. I don't let my children watch programs containing violence but still they are exposed to it.....the commercials advertising future programs are viewed by my children during the programs I allow them to watch.

Thank you

Sincerely,

Joe Pletka
630-553-9253

Stephanie Kost

From: Bryan Tucker [b_tucker@icoe.k12.ca.us]
Sent: Monday, August 02, 2004 12:25 PM
To: Michael Powell
Subject: TV Violence Comments

Bryan Tucker
297 Mustang Ct.
Imperial, Ca 92251

August 2, 2004

Chairman Michael Powell
445 12th Street SW
Washington, DC 20554

Chairman Powell:

I recently became aware of your request for public comment on the issue of broadcast TV violence. I would like to comment as both a parent and elementary school teacher.

As a teacher, I see the effects of TV violence daily. In the schools I have worked in during past years, I continuously see the effects of TV violence played-out on the playground. Children pretending to kill each other, pretend sword fights, pretend gun fights, pretend karate fights are common sights. This "play" violence occasionally escalates to real violence with real physical conflict. At one school sight I was taking students to the office so frequently because of their physical violence on the playground I was unofficially reprimanded by my principal, and was told that although every single office referral was justified, I needed to stop sending students to the office!!!! I feel a responsibility to stop such violence when I see it, and because of the reprimand, found myself forcing myself to not look toward the playground when I personally didn't have playground supervision duty at the moment!!! TV violence also deeply impacts students' attitudes about violence. I frequently hear students outraged that they were punished for their violent acts because they literally believe there is absolutely nothing wrong with violence. I had one student this year, for example, who was angry that he got in trouble for punching another student in the stomach. His attitude was such that he was angry he got in trouble "just for that", and rather than accept that he had done anything wrong, he blamed adult staff for "getting him in trouble." I have students state that when they are physically large enough they will hurt or kill adult authority figures in their lives-- parents, grandparents, teachers, etc. Our elementary students appear to be more and more desensitized to violence, and I believe we will see them act out violence in larger numbers as adolescents and adults if we don't maintain and enforce standards in broadcast, cable, satellite, and theater. I am not saying that broadcast programming is the sole contributor in the behaviors I see, but I argue that it deeply condones and promotes such behavior. I include the majority of children's programming broadcast on public airwaves as including objectionable content.

As a parent of two preschoolers, I am equally concerned about broadcast moral standards. My wife and I maintain strict control over the quality of programming we allow our children to watch. Nonetheless, even when the actual program may be acceptable to our standards, almost without fail commercials are broadcast during the program which present explicit violence, sexual innuendo (or lots of skin with minimal covering), or morally objectionable content (i.e. cell phone commercials indicating teens should have a cell so they can more easily deceive their parents). My five-year-old is simply absorbed into such adds and we find ourselves having to explain why the message is bad. Needless to say, I Don't allow my children to watch much broadcast TV.

Sincerely,

Bryan Tucker

Stephanie Kost

From: Bryan Tucker [b_tucker@icoe.k12.ca.us]
Sent: Monday, August 02, 2004 12:25 PM
To: Commissioner Adelstein
Subject: TV Violence Comments

Bryan Tucker
297 Mustang Ct.
Imperial, Ca 92251

August 2, 2004

Commissioner Jonathan Adelstein
445 12th Street SW
Washington, DC 20554

Commissioner Adelstein:

I recently became aware of your request for public comment on the issue of broadcast TV violence. I would like to comment as both a parent and elementary school teacher.

As a teacher, I see the effects of TV violence daily. In the schools I have worked in during past years, I continuously see the effects of TV violence played-out on the playground. Children pretending to kill each other, pretend sword fights, pretend gun fights, pretend karate fights are common sights. This "play" violence occasionally escalates to real violence with real physical conflict. At one school sight I was taking students to the office so frequently because of their physical violence on the playground I was unofficially reprimanded by my principal, and was told that although every single office referral was justified, I needed to stop sending students to the office!!!! I feel a responsibility to stop such violence when I see it, and because of the reprimand, found myself forcing myself to not look toward the playground when I personally didn't have playground supervision duty at the moment!!! TV violence also deeply impacts students' attitudes about violence. I frequently hear students outraged that they were punished for their violent acts because they literally believe there is absolutely nothing wrong with violence. I had one student this year, for example, who was angry that he got in trouble for punching another student in the stomach. His attitude was such that he was angry he got in trouble "just for that", and rather than accept that he had done anything wrong, he blamed adult staff for "getting him in trouble." I have students state that when they are physically large enough they will hurt or kill adult authority figures in their lives-- parents, grandparents, teachers, etc. Our elementary students appear to be more and more desensitized to violence, and I believe we will see them act out violence in larger numbers as adolescents and adults if we don't maintain and enforce standards in broadcast, cable, satellite, and theater. I am not saying that broadcast programming is the sole contributor in the behaviors I see, but I argue that it deeply condones and promotes such behavior. I include the majority of children's programming broadcast on public airwaves as including objectionable content.

As a parent of two preschoolers, I am equally concerned about broadcast moral standards. My wife and I maintain strict control over the quality of programming we allow our children to watch. Nonetheless, even when the actual program may be acceptable to our standards, almost without fail commercials are broadcast during the program which present explicit violence, sexual innuendo (or lots of skin with minimal covering), or morally objectional content (i.e. cell phone commercials indicating teens should have a cell so they can more easily deceive their parents). My five-year-old is simply absorbed into such adds and we find ourselves having to explain why the message is bad. Needless to say, I Don't allow my children to watch much broadcast TV.

Sincerely,

Bryan Tucker

Stephanie Kost

From: Bryan Tucker [b_tucker@icoe.k12.ca.us]
Sent: Monday, August 02, 2004 12:25 PM
To: Michael Copps
Subject: TV Violence Comments

Bryan Tucker
297 Mustang Ct.
Imperial, Ca 92251

August 2, 2004

Commissioner Michael Copps
445 12th Street SW
Washington, DC 20554

Commissioner Copps:

I recently became aware of your request for public comment on the issue of broadcast TV violence. I would like to comment as both a parent and elementary school teacher.

As a teacher, I see the effects of TV violence daily. In the schools I have worked in during past years, I continuously see the effects of TV violence played-out on the playground. Children pretending to kill each other, pretend sword fights, pretend gun fights, pretend karate fights are common sights. This "play" violence occasionally escalates to real violence with real physical conflict. At one school sight I was taking students to the office so frequently because of their physical violence on the playground I was unofficially reprimanded by my principal, and was told that although every single office referral was justified, I needed to stop sending students to the office!!!! I feel a responsibility to stop such violence when I see it, and because of the reprimand, found myself forcing myself to not look toward the playground when I personally didn't have playground supervision duty at the moment!!! TV violence also deeply impacts students' attitudes about violence. I frequently hear students outraged that they were punished for their violent acts because they literally believe there is absolutely nothing wrong with violence. I had one student this year, for example, who was angry that he got in trouble for punching another student in the stomach. His attitude was such that he was angry he got in trouble "just for that", and rather than accept that he had done anything wrong, he blamed adult staff for "getting him in trouble." I have students state that when they are physically large enough they will hurt or kill adult authority figures in their lives-- parents, grandparents, teachers, etc. Our elementary students appear to be more and more desensitized to violence, and I believe we will see them act out violence in larger numbers as adolescents and adults if we don't maintain and enforce standards in broadcast, cable, satellite, and theater. I am not saying that broadcast programming is the sole contributor in the behaviors I see, but I argue that it deeply condones and promotes such behavior. I include the majority of children's programming broadcast on public airwaves as including objectionable content.

As a parent of two preschoolers, I am equally concerned about broadcast moral standards. My wife and I maintain strict control over the quality of programming we allow our children to watch. Nonetheless, even when the actual program may be acceptable to our standards, almost without fail commercials are broadcast during the program which present explicit violence, sexual innuendo (or lots of skin with minimal covering), or morally objectionable content (i.e. cell phone commercials indicating teens should have a cell so they can more easily deceive their parents). My five-year-old is simply absorbed into such adds and we find ourselves having to explain why the message is bad. Needless to say, I Don't allow my children to watch much broadcast TV.

Sincerely,

Bryan Tucker

Stephanie Kost

From: Bryan Tucker [b_tucker@icoe.k12.ca.us]
Sent: Monday, August 02, 2004 12:25 PM
To: Michael Copps
Subject: TV Violence Comments

Bryan Tucker
297 Mustang Ct.
Imperial, Ca 92251

August 2, 2004

Commissioner Michael Copps
445 12th Street SW
Washington, DC 20554

Commissioner Copps:

I recently became aware of your request for public comment on the issue of broadcast TV violence. I would like to comment as both a parent and elementary school teacher.

As a teacher, I see the effects of TV violence daily. In the schools I have worked in during past years, I continuously see the effects of TV violence played-out on the playground. Children pretending to kill each other, pretend sword fights, pretend gun fights, pretend karate fights are common sights. This "play" violence occasionally escalates to real violence with real physical conflict. At one school sight I was taking students to the office so frequently because of their physical violence on the playground I was unofficially reprimanded by my principal, and was told that although every single office referral was justified, I needed to stop sending students to the office!!!! I feel a responsibility to stop such violence when I see it, and because of the reprimand, found myself forcing myself to not look toward the playground when I personally didn't have playground supervision duty at the moment!!! TV violence also deeply impacts students' attitudes about violence. I frequently hear students outraged that they were punished for their violent acts because they literally believe there is absolutely nothing wrong with violence. I had one student this year, for example, who was angry that he got in trouble for punching another student in the stomach. His attitude was such that he was angry he got in trouble "just for that", and rather than accept that he had done anything wrong, he blamed adult staff for "getting him in trouble." I have students state that when they are physically large enough they will hurt or kill adult authority figures in their lives-- parents, grandparents, teachers, etc. Our elementary students appear to be more and more desensitized to violence, and I believe we will see them act out violence in larger numbers as adolescents and adults if we don't maintain and enforce standards in broadcast, cable, satellite, and theater. I am not saying that broadcast programming is the sole contributor in the behaviors I see, but I argue that it deeply condones and promotes such behavior. I include the majority of children's programming broadcast on public airwaves as including objectionable content.

As a parent of two preschoolers, I am equally concerned about broadcast moral standards. My wife and I maintain strict control over the quality of programming we allow our children to watch. Nonetheless, even when the actual program may be acceptable to our standards, almost without fail commercials are broadcast during the program which present explicit violence, sexual innuendo (or lots of skin with minimal covering), or morally objectionable content (i.e. cell phone commercials indicating teens should have a cell so they can more easily deceive their parents). My five-year-old is simply absorbed into such adds and we find ourselves having to explain why the message is bad. Needless to say, I Don't allow my children to watch much broadcast TV.

Sincerely,

Bryan Tucker

Stephanie Kost

From: Bryan Tucker [b_tucker@icoe.k12.ca.us]
Sent: Monday, August 02, 2004 12:25 PM
To: KAQuinn
Subject: TV Violence Comments

Bryan Tucker
297 Mustang Ct.
Imperial, Ca 92251

August 2, 2004

Commissioner Kathleen Abernathy
445 12th Street SW
Washington, DC 20554

Commissioner Abernathy:

I recently became aware of your request for public comment on the issue of broadcast TV violence. I would like to comment as both a parent and elementary school teacher.

As a teacher, I see the effects of TV violence daily. In the schools I have worked in during past years, I continuously see the effects of TV violence played-out on the playground. Children pretending to kill each other, pretend sword fights, pretend gun fights, pretend karate fights are common sights. This "play" violence occasionally escalates to real violence with real physical conflict. At one school sight I was taking students to the office so frequently because of their physical violence on the playground I was unofficially reprimanded by my principal, and was told that although every single office referral was justified, I needed to stop sending students to the office!!!! I feel a responsibility to stop such violence when I see it, and because of the reprimand, found myself forcing myself to not look toward the playground when I personally didn't have playground supervision duty at the moment!!! TV violence also deeply impacts students' attitudes about violence. I frequently hear students outraged that they were punished for their violent acts because they literally believe there is absolutely nothing wrong with violence. I had one student this year, for example, who was angry that he got in trouble for punching another student in the stomach. His attitude was such that he was angry he got in trouble "just for that", and rather than accept that he had done anything wrong, he blamed adult staff for "getting him in trouble." I have students state that when they are physically large enough they will hurt or kill adult authority figures in their lives-- parents, grandparents, teachers, etc. Our elementary students appear to be more and more desensitized to violence, and I believe we will see them act out violence in larger numbers as adolescents and adults if we don't maintain and enforce standards in broadcast, cable, satellite, and theater. I am not saying that broadcast programming is the sole contributor in the behaviors I see, but I argue that it deeply condones and promotes such behavior. I include the majority of children's programming broadcast on public airwaves as including objectionable content.

As a parent of two preschoolers, I am equally concerned about broadcast moral standards. My wife and I maintain strict control over the quality of programming we allow our children to watch. Nonetheless, even when the actual program may be acceptable to our standards, almost without fail commercials are broadcast during the program which present explicit violence, sexual innuendo (or lots of skin with minimal covering), or morally objectional content (i.e. cell phone commercials indicating teens should have a cell so they can more easily deceive their parents). My five-year-old is simply absorbed into such adds and we find ourselves having to explain why the message is bad. Needless to say, I Don't allow my children to watch much broadcast TV.

Sincerely,

Bryan Tucker

Stephanie Kost

From: Bryan Tucker [b_tucker@icoe.k12.ca.us]
Sent: Monday, August 02, 2004 12:25 PM
To: KJMWEB
Subject: TV Violence Comments

Bryan Tucker
297 Mustang Ct.
Imperial, Ca 92251

August 2, 2004

Commissioner Kevin Martin
445 12th Street SW
Washington, DC 20554

Commissioner Martin:

I recently became aware of your request for public comment on the issue of broadcast TV violence. I would like to comment as both a parent and elementary school teacher.

As a teacher, I see the effects of TV violence daily. In the schools I have worked in during past years, I continuously see the effects of TV violence played-out on the playground. Children pretending to kill each other, pretend sword fights, pretend gun fights, pretend karate fights are common sights. This "play" violence occasionally escalates to real violence with real physical conflict. At one school sight I was taking students to the office so frequently because of their physical violence on the playground I was unofficially reprimanded by my principal, and was told that although every single office referral was justified, I needed to stop sending students to the office!!!! I feel a responsibility to stop such violence when I see it, and because of the reprimand, found myself forcing myself to not look toward the playground when I personally didn't have playground supervision duty at the moment!!! TV violence also deeply impacts students' attitudes about violence. I frequently hear students outraged that they were punished for their violent acts because they literally believe there is absolutely nothing wrong with violence. I had one student this year, for example, who was angry that he got in trouble for punching another student in the stomach. His attitude was such that he was angry he got in trouble "just for that", and rather than accept that he had done anything wrong, he blamed adult staff for "getting him in trouble." I have students state that when they are physically large enough they will hurt or kill adult authority figures in their lives-- parents, grandparents, teachers, etc. Our elementary students appear to be more and more desensitized to violence, and I believe we will see them act out violence in larger numbers as adolescents and adults if we don't maintain and enforce standards in broadcast, cable, satellite, and theater. I am not saying that broadcast programming is the sole contributor in the behaviors I see, but I argue that it deeply condones and promotes such behavior. I include the majority of children's programming broadcast on public airwaves as including objectionable content.

As a parent of two preschoolers, I am equally concerned about broadcast moral standards. My wife and I maintain strict control over the quality of programming we allow our children to watch. Nonetheless, even when the actual program may be acceptable to our standards, almost without fail commercials are broadcast during the program which present explicit violence, sexual innuendo (or lots of skin with minimal covering), or morally objectional content (i.e. cell phone commercials indicating teens should have a cell so they can more easily deceive their parents). My five-year-old is simply absorbed into such ads and we find ourselves having to explain why the message is bad. Needless to say, I Don't allow my children to watch much broadcast TV.

Sincerely,

Bryan Tucker

Stephanie Kost

From: Carol Siino [squalo992002@aol.com]
Sent: Monday, August 02, 2004 12:23 PM
To: Commissioner Adelstein

Carol Siino
2551 Leebe ave.
Pomona, CA 91768

August 2, 2004

Commissioner Jonathan Adelstein
445 12th Street SW
Washington, DC 20554

Commissioner Adelstein:

Dear Commissioner,
I cant't believe the excessive violence on broadcast TV and sex. I will not even let my teenage children watch some of the shows on TV. Please can you look into this issue and elimanate anything that is not appropriate. I grew up watching TV since 1961 and loved viewing shows that actually edified the soul, heart and mind. Please do something.

Sincerely,

Carol Siino

Stephanie Kost

From: Carol Siino [squalo992002@aol.com]
Sent: Monday, August 02, 2004 12:23 PM
To: KAQuinn

Carol Siino
2551 Leebe ave.
Pomona, CA 91768

August 2, 2004

Commissioner Kathleen Abernathy
445 12th Street SW
Washington, DC 20554

Commissioner Abernathy:

Dear Commissioner,
I cant't believe the excessive violence on broadcast TV and sex. I will not even let my teenage children watch some of the shows on TV. Please can you look into this issue and elimanate anything that is not appropriate. I grew up watching TV since 1961 and loved viewing shows that actually edified the soul, heart and mind. Please do something.

Sincerely,

Carol Siino

Stephanie Kost

From: Carol Siino [squalo992002@aol.com]
Sent: Monday, August 02, 2004 12:23 PM
To: KJMWEB

Carol Siino
2551 Leebe ave.
Pomona, CA 91768

August 2, 2004

Commissioner Kevin Martin
445 12th Street SW
Washington, DC 20554

Commissioner Martin:

Dear Commissioner,
I cant't believe the excessive violence on broadcast TV and sex. I will not even let my teenage children watch some of the shows on TV. Please can you look into this issue and elimanate anything that is not appropriate. I grew up watching TV since 1961 and loved viewing shows that actually edified the soul, heart and mind. Please do something.

Sincerely,

Carol Siino